

Dialogue ouvert à Parakou : les acteurs échangent pour la résilience climatique

The NGO Save Our Planet organized a fruitful dialogue on November 4, 2023, including diverse experts, citizens, and passionate farmers, to discuss the climate impacts in Benin and other African countries. They stressed the need for localized resilience strategies, farmer education, and climate justice. The participants emphasized the negative consequences of increased agricultural modernization and persistent climate change without appropriate interventions.